

HINTS & TIPS

MOTOR NOISE

When using a microcontroller, electrical noise generated when using small motors can often affect the program. A small 220nF non-polarised capacitor soldered across the motor contacts will suppress the electrical noise generated.

Rapid

We bring STEAM to life

www.rapidonline.com